From the Curate:

Now Fr Peter has left us to take his new post in Nice, we find ourselves at the beginning of a vacancy or interregnum. Peter will be missed, not least by me. We will all have our individual memories of him. To me he was not only a teacher, incumbent, and in work terms a boss, but I would also consider him to be my friend.

Even though Peter has moved to another country it doesn't mean that we must lose touch with him. He will have a new parish to look after, but I am sure we will be able to follow what he doing on Facebook, and in due course on his church's website. In the same way he will be able to follow what we are doing. It is not the custom for vicars to return to their previous parishes, but that does not mean he ceases to be interested in us.

One of the best ways we can show our appreciation of all he has done for us is to ensure that the new incumbent finds Christ Church to be at least as Christian as it was when Peter left it. The Church Wardens have already met with Bp Peter and our patron Fr Stuart Owen, All Saints Edmonton, but it may well be several months before a suitable person is appointed. After that, notice, usually three months, will have to be worked. We will pray for all those people who are involved with the selection of our new vicar.

Everything will continue as usual at Christ Church, but we may not change things during this period. For example a group of us were keen to start a new type of service for young families entitled "Messy church", that will have to wait. The work on the organ can, however, go ahead because approval has already been obtained from the diocese for the work to be done.

We are extremely fortunate in having occasional help from other priests including a retired priest Fr David Nash. He has offered to be with us once a month to take the Sunday 10 a.m. Eucharist service. This means that those parishioners who can not, in all conscience, receive the bread and wine that has been blessed by me, a woman, will be able to receive Holy Communion at Christ Church. The Parish website contains the rota so it is possible to check when Fr David will be with us. There will also be consecrated hosts, blessed by him, kept separately in the aumbry so that communicants who receive their communion at home, will be able to consume wafers blessed by a man, if they so wish.

I have different skills to Fr Peter but I will try to follow his example and take the services to the best of my ability in the way that he taught me. We all know that priests don't just work on Sundays. I will continue with my part time paid work, but I will endeavour to make myself available if a priest is needed. Please tell me if you or someone known to you needs a priest. That is why I am here.

I am confident that we will keep up the Christian way of life that Fr Peter has encouraged us to maintain. We will continue to live as a Christian community, helping each other and volunteering to help with services and activities of the church that enhance the quality of life for not only our congregation, but our neighbours as well.

We might find that during the next nine to twelve months each of us may be able to give a little more of our time. The Church Wardens are both busy people already, and they will find the task of choosing a new vicar very time consuming. If you are approached to do something extra, please will you consider hard before saying no. Better still, be like the Brownies and Cubs and offer to do a good turn without being asked, and do it in a way that is useful to all, and most especially to God
With my prayers and best wishes to you all.

Hazel

THANKS FROM FR PETER

I greatly enjoyed the farewell Eucharist and Parish Party on September 14th.

I would particularly like to thank the church wardens and everyone who made it such a memorable day. I would also like to thank everyone in the parish for making the past eleven years so fulfilling.

Fr Peter Jackson

GOD IN THE ARTS

Editor: For 2014, the Rev Michael Burgess is surveying works of sacred art that can be found in the Rijksmuseum in Amsterdam...you can see the image by googling the title of the painting and the artist. This series began in January and will run until December.

'He gave us eyes to see them': 'The Vision of St Francis' by Ludovico Carracci

Saturday, 4th October is the feast day of one of the most loved saints of the Church: Francis of Assisi. His joy in God and his care of all creation have endeared him to Christians through the ages. At Christmas we remember St Francis with the cribs set up in our churches and homes. That tradition harks back to the nativity scene in a cave outside Greccio. St Francis wanted to remind people in that 13th century town of the love that came down at Christmas, and so he invited them to visit the cave.

As they peered in, they saw the first Christmas scene for there was a mother and a new-born child with St Joseph and the animals looking on. That love of the Christ-Child is at the heart of this month's painting from the Rijksmuseum in Amsterdam: 'The Vision of St Francis' by Ludovico Carracci. Born in Bologna in 1555, he was one of three brothers who were all artists who made a great impact on the cultural climate of the 16th century.

This painting was created in the 1580s and is almost a triptych. At the left we see the wood and the wilderness. A brother monk who has been following the saint looks on from a distance. To the right we see Mary robed in blue. And in the centre St Francis holding the babe with love and reverence. All the light in the canvas shines forth from our Lady and her child. For the rest, the world is in darkness waiting for the light of God's love to shine upon it.

When St Francis set up the crib scene at Greccio, he was not offering a pretty picture for people to visit. He was warning those in authority in state and church about power and service, and he was inviting them with ordinary Christians to 'Behold your God, a helpless child. Your God is of your flesh. And he lives in your neighbour.' The crib, the stigmata, the preaching to animals and birds, the dedication to Lady Poverty – they were all marks of the saint's life and were messages addressed to a medieval world where daily life was often a tumultuous mixture of warfare, unrest, hatred, envy and a lust for power. To that world and to our world St Francis proclaims the good news as a message of joy and love in the darkness, just as the joy and love of the Christ-Child lights up the darkness of this painting by Carracci.

God has come to dwell at peace with men and women everywhere. It was a gospel that transformed the life of St Francis, so much so that to many it seemed as if he was clothed with the sun. That truth continues to transform lives for good in our world. And it can transform us as we look on at this special visionary moment in the life of October's saint.

WHAT WE SING IN CHURCH

Ye Holy Angels bright NEH No 475

I have chosen to write about this hymn as we have just celebrated the feast of St Michael and all Angels and on October 2nd, the Holy Guardian Angels. Angels appear to be rather neglected in the Church of England but when I have looked up angels on the net there are numerous very odd websites devoted to belief in angels and how to contact them. However as we shall see angels are really very important.

This hymn was written by Richard Baxter (1615-91) who was born in Rowton in Shropshire and educated at Wroxeter School.

He was ordained into the Church of England and served in Bridgnorth and Kidderminster. He was essentially a Puritan and developed a strong distrust of episcopacy. He served as a chaplain to Cromwell during the Civil War. In 1660 he became chaplain to Charles II and was offered the bishopric of Hereford which he refused to accept. He was unable to follow the decrees of the Act of Uniformity (1662) which laid down that all in public office must conform to the rites, practices and prayers in the Book of Common Prayer. Baxter left the Established Church and became a nonconformist minister in 1673.

In 1685 he was tried before the notorious Judge Jefferies for sedition and spent 18 months in prison.

Ye Holy Angels Bright owes a good deal to the Letter to the Hebrews which I discovered when I started to do some work on it. Verse 1 echoes passages from the first chapter of Hebrews.

And of the angels he saith, Who maketh his angels spirits, and his ministers a flame of fire. And 'Are they not all ministering spirits, sent forth to minister for them who shall be heirs of salvation? (Heb. 1.7&14)

And also in Acts,

And, behold, the angel of the Lord came upon him, and a light shined in the prison: and he smote Peter on the side, and raised him up, saying, Arise up quickly. And his chains fell off from his hands. And the angel said unto him, Gird thyself, and bind on thy sandals. And so he did. And he saith unto him, Cast thy garment about thee, and follow me. And he went out, and followed him; and wist not that it was true which was done by the angel; but thought he saw a vision. (Acts 12.7-9)

The verse ends with the writer asking the angels to help with our song of praise

Verse 2 speaks to our own loved ones who are now at rest and also to the saints in heaven.

The earthy race which they ran refers to a passage in the Letter to Timothy and also to another from the Letter to the Hebrews.

I have fought a good fight, I have finished my course, I have kept the faith. (II Timothy 4.7)

Wherefore seeing we also are compassed about with so great a cloud of witnesses, let us lay aside every weight, and the sin which doth so easily beset us, and let us run with patience the race that is set before us. (Heb. 12.1)

In verse 3 the writer speaks to us all still on earth saints and all, telling us we should rejoice in all God gives us and praising Him 'through good or ill'.

The last verse is addressed to the writer own soul and I think to all our souls, telling them that they should spend all their days 'till life shall end' in praising God, whatever should happen in our lives.

The bible quotations are from the King James bible. I do not know what translation Richard Baxter used but it must have been close to this.

ST JAMES-THE-LESS

On the perils of being a school governor

The Rectory
St. James the Least

My dear Nephew Darren

I was interested to hear that from this academic year, your vicar has asked you to take his place as a school governor. A whole new world of exciting meetings is about to open up to you. Naturally, you will have been told that the governors only meet three times a year. You will probably not have been told that you will also be expected to be on at least two sub-committees, where you will be immediately asked to become secretary, as a way of getting to know the job. Add on training days, parents' evenings, sports days, school socials, end of term services, charity events and accompanying classes on days out and you will begin to realise that your vicar's suggestion was not as innocent as you may have thought.

Remember, too, that all meetings require you sit on chairs designed for 5 year-olds. You will then spend countless hours going through a 40 item agenda, trying to look dignified with your knees somewhere round your ears while drawing up school plans as if they were the Normandy landing. Be prepared to receive paperwork measured by the hundredweight; entire rainforests have been obliterated by your education authority sending what they seem to think is vital information; it does, however, make good cat litter.

Most meetings will be so full of acronyms that for the first few years you will have the feeling that conversation is taking place in a language that may bear a passing resemblance to English, but isn't. There is little point in trying to learn what they all mean because before too long, they will all be replaced by another set anyway, which will be equally incomprehensible.

Your computer abilities will be expected to be far beyond what anyone over the age of 30 could ever be expected to achieve; if you sink without trace, ask a seven year-old, who will soon put you right.

You will also be encouraged to attend training days; I strongly suggest you select all-day events, as at least you will get a lunch out of it. You needn't bother to arrive on time, since the first hour will be spent with everyone introducing themselves and you can leave early, as the final hour will go on filling in evaluation forms.

Just keep reminding yourself that your term of office is a mere five years; you may even get remission for good behaviour.

Your loving uncle,

Eustace

WALK WITH CHRIST CHURCH

Near Saffron Walden

One bright mid-August Saturday, some of us brave souls from Christ Church set out for a ramble of 6 miles near the lovely old town of Saffron Walden.

We went in cars to Ashenden, a village just nearby; it was led by Ron and Judith Lo and Jackie Anderson.

Jackie brought her son's dog, a lucky and popular hound called Bruce Lee. He was much liked by a young French teenager, son of Jackie's French friends who came with.

Anthony and his friend John were late and we had to start off without them. What a pity!

Ron led us through a lovely field path, next to ripe wheat fields. We saw a working windmill; this was not actually on when we were there.

Among the walkers were Marion (Jackie's sister), Jackie, Nancye and Mary Piper, Philip and his wife, Ellen (formerly of Christ Church), Melissa, Vincent and Valerie and their young son Louis (French friends of Jackie), Michael, Arnie and Lucille, myself, Lynda Corcoran and Judith and Ron Lo. These last two did an excellent job of leading us; Ron at the front and Judith at the back with walkie talkies!

I must admit I wasn't alone in getting stuck in a bit of mud! Nevermind!

We walked through beautiful countryside; lots of ripe wheat fields. After about half way we entered a field with a very high Egyptian burial mound. Some of us intrepid folk dared to have our lunch at the very top!

This was a welcome break. Then we continued the last part of the walk, and came upon a pretty church. 'C'est très jolie', said Valerie, the French lady.

It was a lovely old church. We all went in, and absorbed a wonderful calm atmosphere of this country church.

I think we all thanked the Lord of the wonderful day we were having in the lovely countryside.

Melissa said that if you go into a church for the first time and pray for something, it will be granted! Interesting!

After some more rambling through the lush, green fields, we came to a farm. We also went in a field where a sign read, 'Beware of the bull'. It was a little scary, but we didn't see a bull!

Eventually we arrived back at the pub. We had a welcome drink and met up with Anthony and his friend John.

The pub owners very kindly allowed Bruce Lee, the lovely dog in there on his lead. He promptly fell asleep, tired out by it all; as no doubt a lot of us were too. A really lovely enjoyable walk in the country! About 15 of us took part.

A big thanks to Ron and Judith Lo, Jackie Anderson and, of course, most of all, to our wonderful Lord Jesus, who inspires all of our actions and lives.

God bless you Christ Church reader!

Join in the next walk for some more frolics!

Amen.

SHOEBOXES FOR OPERATION CHRISTMAS CHILD 2014

As the autumn term begins we need to turn our minds to Christmas Shoebox presents.

Following the same lines as previous years, any contributions that you can make will add to the number and quality of boxes that we send this year.

Each shoebox needs to be covered in Christmas paper, lid and bottom separately. Each box should be age 2--4, 5--9, 10--14 and boy or girl specific. We should include a tablet of soap, flannel, comb, toothpaste and brush and a set of hat scarf and gloves, in each.

Other gifts could include; crayons, pens, notebook, ball, puzzle, toy car or doll, skipping rope, a pair of sunglasses, jewellery and hair accessories, card game, dominoes, and a small musical instrument. Each box could have an assortment of 'party bag' type things.

Everything should be new and as a child in this country would like to receive.

As in the past, I will put some knitting patterns at the back of church of new ideas. If anyone has some oddments of wool, please leave them on the back pew.

As the boxes have to go abroad they should NOT contain any liquids, no chocolate, nothing to do with war, and only picture books (English may not be their language).

We will check each box, give it a label and secure with an elastic band. Please follow instructions carefully, so that we produce boxes that are acceptable to the charity and will meet custom standards. The last date for collecting boxes is Sunday 9th November. Each box costs £3 to deliver.

Thank you for your continuing help and support.

COVENTRY'S CROSS

The people of Coventry will always remember the dreadfully long night of 14th November 1940. It was the longest air raid of the World War II and when the light dawned the next morning, Coventry was in ruins. So many people were dead, injured or homeless; there wasn't a person who had not suffered during that night.

The medieval cathedral was a burnt out shell. Two of the burnt roof beams were tied together to make a cross and this makeshift symbol was set up where the altar had been. A cross was also made from the 14th century iron nails that had held the roof together and this Cross of Nails still remains today as a symbol of sympathy, forgiveness and reconciliation. Copies of the Cross of Nails have been presented to countries round the globe as a reminder that love and understanding bind us together and that we need to remember the horrors that happen when people forget that.

CROSS PURPOSES

There are many different types of cross in pictures. Do you know what these are called?
